

Ashley Teakles

Originally from Cape Breton, Ashley graduated as an MRT in 2016 with a BHS in Radiography from UNBSJ/The Saint John School of Radiological Technology. Since then, she has worked in a large hospital setting as well as smaller, more rural hospitals, and enjoys both the challenges and quirks that come with each.

As someone who always wants to learn and know more, she became interested in the NBAMRT as a way to become more involved. She has already learned so much in her short time with the Executive Committee, and is excited to see what will come next.

One of her personal passions is agriculture, and she and her husband own a small hobby farm outside of Sussex, NB.
